Alderman Patrick Arnold looks forward to mayoral primary debate

MANCHESTER, NH – Alderman Patrick Arnold announces today that he is looking forward to debating incumbent Mayor Ted Gatsas and local activist Glenn R.J. Ouellette in a debate for the city's upcoming mayoral Primary Election.

“I applaud the other candidates in the race for agreeing to participate in a debate leading up to the city's Primary Election in September,” says Arnold. “Taxpayers and residents of our city deserve the opportunity to hear the candidates' respective views on the issues and challenges we face. I look forward to participating.”

Republican at-large Alderman Joe Kelly Levasseur and Democratic State Representative Bob Backus are co-sponsoring the debate during their respective Wednesday evening television shows on Manchester Public Television Service (MPTS). The debate has been scheduled for Wednesday, September 11 from 7pm to 9pm.

Ward 1 School Board member Sarah Ambrogi has agreed to serve as a moderator for the debate.

The primary election will take place on Tuesday, September 17, 2013.
