Bradley opposes Duncan nomination to NH Board of Education

Concord, NH – Statement of Sen. Jeb Bradley on nomination of Bill Duncan to NH State Board of Education:

I can not support Governor Hassan's nomination of Bill Duncan to the New Hampshire Board of Education. Mr. Duncan is not only a longtime opponent of charter schools, but he is also the lead plaintiff in a lawsuit challenging New Hampshire's Education Tax Credit Law. How can Mr. Duncan serve as an unbiased administrator of programs he has spent years trying to dismantle? Charter schools seeking approval from the State Board of Education, and the students and parents who need more educational options and opportunities, would not be served well by a State Board of Education that limits the choices that students need in the 21st Century.
