Statement

1. Please explain how your past personal and professional experience make you a quality candidate for the position for which you are applying.

As a stay-at-home mother of four children for the past 31 years, I have had the opportunity to work with the district in the educations of these children. Three of my children were identified with needs that qualified them for an IEP. Their disabilities included speech delays, sensory processing disorders, nonverbal learning disorder, emotional handicap and a myriad of executive functioning difficulties. I have also had the opportunity to work inside the classroom as a parent volunteer and have been able to help the teachers by working with students who are struggling. Whether it has been helping teach and immigrant child to read, or helping a child who didn't 'feel' like doing the writing prompt go on to write, in cursive, over a page in response to that prompt, I have found that there is always a way to reach a child, if only we take the time to look for the path that works for them. Over the years I have learned to read body language and watch for signals from children that will help me to help them in the manner that is most appropriate. I believe that the job of paraprofessional is the one that most closely aligns with what I have been doing as a parent volunteer in the past.
